	Agenda/Actions/Decisions
Announcements	The national EHDI Conference is scheduled for March 17-19th in Denver and registration is open. There will be a Colorado stakeholder "Happy Hour" for people to network on Monday evening.

	Dealer consumed that there is compatible on issue with the LUDC details on due to the feet that ODDUE
	Becky announced that there is currently an issue with the HIDS database due to the fact that CDPHE has transitioned to a new system for the electronic birth certificate and that system is currently not syncing with HIDS. CDPHE is working on this issue and hoping to have it resolved soon.
NBHS NICU Brochure	A group of parents reviewed the language in the brochure with mixed feedback regarding the need and content of the brochure.  The group was asked whether or not there is value to a NICU brochure. The group agreed that there is a need for the NICU brochure, however, there was concern expressed about how to ensure that people working in the NICUs know which version to use.	The brochure content will be presented to COEHDI Alliance members at the February 2024 meeting.
	The group was reminded that reading level is a component of the process and ensuring an accessible reading level is a priority. There was a suggestion to change "We know your hands are full," to "We know you are busy." There was a concern that this might be understandable in English but might not translate to other languages/cultures.
	<ul> <li>Questions for the Group:</li> <li>Should we explicitly identify the level(s) (eg, 1, 2, 3, 4) of NICU placement for whom this brochure is relevant?</li> <li>The group asked for clarity about the meaning of the different NICU levels.</li> <li>From a virtual site visit perspective, the feedback is that Levels 1 &amp; 2 equate to approximately 1-2 weeks so hearing screening is more similar to well baby screening. The Level 3 &amp; 4 NICU stays look a bit differently, so this brochure can apply to those levels and the original wellbaby brochure would be used for Levels 1 &amp; 2.</li> <li>The focus should be on clear messaging to parents, regardless of the version used.</li> <li>It was suggested that length of stay could be an indicator for which brochure to give, i.e. if the child stays longer than 1 week, the NICU version would be used. For less than 1 week, the wellbaby brochure would be used.</li> <li>The group was presented with 3 options: <ul> <li>NICU brochure for all levels of NICU</li> <li>NICU brochure for levels 3 &amp; 4</li> <li>NICU brochure for more than 1 week</li> </ul> </li> <li>The decision by the group was to proceed with the timeline criteria that the NICU version will be recommended if a child is in the NICU (at any level) for 1 week or</li> </ul> more. If a child is in the NICU for less than a week, the wellbaby brochure will be recommended.

- Do you like the word "stickers" to identify the electrodes that are used with ABR testing?
  - The recommendation was to use "sensors" rather than stickers and that the term stickers is vague and would need more of an explanation. The group agreed and reached consensus that "sensors" should be used.
- Are you concerned about identifying one person (Leanne Glenn) as a contact when parents want to know where to go for a rescreen? Some parents are concerned that the brochure would need to be reprinted if she were no longer the appropriate person to contact.
  - A recommendation was made to change it from a specific name to having the role listed to "Newborn Hearing Screening Program." The group reached consensus to change from Leanne's name to the role.
- It suggested to change language to indicate that it is recommended that rescreening be done by a pediatric audiologist.
